Harvest season was by far the most rewarding and much anticipated time of the year for the early Acadians, as it was their first opportunity to have fresh garden vegetables on the table. Traditional Acadian Potée (more commonly known as Hodge Podge) is an array of fresh vegetables including cabbage, carrots, leek, turnip, potatoes, green beans and fresh peas that simmer in an array of herbs and spices and stewed in a mild flavourful light cream sauce.

Our Appetizer: a bowl of Acadian Chicken Fricot OR Ginger Carrot Soup

Main Course: Traditional Acadian Potée

Dessert: Acadian homemade Ginger Molasses Cake with a warm lemon sauce and whipped cream.

Coffee Tea
